

Office of Trade - Facilitate. Enforce. Protect.

U.S. Customs and Border Protection's Office of Trade is the architect of the most robust customs system in the world and the second largest revenue source for the U.S. Government. We facilitate legitimate trade, enforce law, and protect the American economy as well as consumer health and safety. Collaborating with industry and government partners, we create a fair, competitive, and safe trade environment, and we enforce U.S. trade law to protect national economic security. Our expertise in the trade community allows us to lead the development of streamlined and efficient processes that provide certainty for legitimate importers, while combatting transnational crime.

The Office of Trade focuses its activity and efforts on seven Priority Trade Issues (PTI). PTIs represent high-risk areas that can cause significant revenue loss, harm the U.S. economy, or threaten the health and safety of the American people. We drive risk-informed investment of CBP resources toward enforcement and facilitation efforts, including the selection of audit candidates, special enforcement operations, outreach, and regulatory initiatives.

Agriculture and Quota

Fairly administer and enforce quotas, for industries such as agriculture, by monitoring licensing and collaborating with partner government agencies

Antidumping and Countervailing Duties (AD/CVD)

Partner with Department of Commerce to administer domestic injury cases, oversee proper duty collections, and detect evasion of AD/CVD laws

Free Trade Agreements (FTA)

Advance Administration's trade agenda through implementing and enforcing the terms of FTAs and preferential trade legislation

Import Safety

Enable interagency coordination to prevent unsafe products from entering the U.S.

Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)

Protect American IP by interdicting violative goods and leveraging enhanced enforcement authorities

Revenue

Focus on enforcing trade laws and facilitating legitimate trade by collecting lawfully owed duties, taxes, and fees

Textiles and Wearing Apparel

Enforce textile and apparel compliance with classification and origin rules that support proper duty collections
